This thread discusses the Content article: Central Oregon Opener

Spent a windy opener in Eastern Oregon, with a lot of sight seeing and a little fishing. I got the dreaded Red X when I previewed the report, so I posted on the home page with a link above:

Nice! Reminds me of when I was in that area last summer for some small stream fishing for native Redbands. I really love the solitude of that part of Oregon. WIDE open spaces. Unfortunately, I missed the Cowboy Dinner Tree, and from the looks of that meal, I could've eaten for DAYS off of the pile of grub they bring you. I'll have to stop by next time I'm in the area...with a reservation, of course.
